

Jersey Churchmen Condemn Naming of Dr. Herron as Envoy

Presbyterian Brotherhood Protests to President Against the Delegate of U. S. to Princes' Islands

PATERSON, N. J., Feb. 22.—A resolution condemning President Wilson's action in appointing Dr. George D. Herron as the representative of United States to the Princes' Islands conference was adopted at the thirteenth annual convention of the Presbyterian Brotherhood of New Jersey, held at the Second Presbyterian Church, in this city, to-day.

During the discussion of the resolution the Rev. James D. Steele, of Passaic, N. J., and the Rev. William C. Stinson, of Red Bank, N. J., spoke in favor of its adoption. Mr. Steele declared that the appointment of "this advocate of free love is an insult to the womanhood of America," while Mr. Stinson said that he believed that "the rampant I. W. W.-ism of the Pacific Coast could be traced back to the teachings of Dr. Herron." Mr. Stinson said that President Wilson was a "staunch, Scotch-Irish, stubborn Presbyterian" and probably would not act on the resolution, but still he believed it was the duty of the Presbyterian Brotherhood to adopt it.

The resolution as adopted follows: "Whereas, it is the purpose of this convention to support men and measures working for the betterment of our country and the world and it is not our purpose to allow partisan feeling to influence;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the Presbyterian Brotherhood of New Jersey, in convention assembled, protest to President Wilson against his appointment of George D. Herron as representative of the United States of America to the Princes' Islands conference because we believe Herron's personal life and teachings make him unfit to represent our country.

"Be it resolved further, that the secretary forward a copy of this resolution to the Princes' Islands conference of New Jersey, were present at the convention.

Quinn Wants Hyman Back To Correct Police Evils

"Why Does Mayor Train Goats at Palm Beach?" Asks Alderman Who Seeks Probe

"Why is it that our Mayor is basking in the sunlight of Palm Beach training goats, instead of being at his desk in City Hall considering ways and means to correct the existing deplorable police conditions, and thereby protect the life and property of the poor people he is so solicitous of in his Palm Beach interview?" asks Alderman William F. Quinn in a statement regarding the propriety of an investigation into the Police Department.

"The Police Department under the present administration has undergone kaleidoscopic changes," Alderman Quinn's statement continues. "After Mr. Bugher's resignation, Lieutenant Enright was designated to guide the affairs of the Police Department temporarily. He, either from fear of removal by Mayor Hyman or possibly a Republican Governor, safeguarded his position by having a special bill passed in Albany that would secure him certain compensation in case of removal by our Palm Beach interview."

Alderman Quinn introduced a resolution into the Aldermanic Board last Tuesday calling for the appointment of a committee of twelve to investigate the Police Department. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules. There is no indication that it will ever emerge.

Girl Seeking Fiance Hears of His Death

ISABELLE NIXON, of 446 West Forty-seventh Street, entered a cigar store in Hoboken yesterday after the transport Manchuria had docked. She wanted to telephone her family that she had been unable to get news of her fiance, James H. Martin, of Battery C, 70th Coast Artillery. The telephone was in use. A reporter was giving his newspaper an account of the transport's arrival.

"Several deaths on board from influenza and pneumonia," he was saying. "One of them, a New Yorker, James H. Martin, Battery C, 70th Coast Artillery."

He came to a sudden stop. There was a movement and a gasp behind him. He turned. A young woman was leaning on the counter. "Jimmy! Jimmy! Jimmy!" she was moaning, and moisture glistened on the gloved hands with which she covered her face.

She was Isabelle Nixon.

Salvation Lassies Drop Tambourine As Army Provider

Annual $10,000,000 Drive To Be Substituted for Method That Financed Its Work for 35 Years

Another beloved and time honored institution—the Salvation Army Tambourine—has gone to pot in this day of transition and readjustment. No more will the plunk of small change be heard as the nickels, dimes and quarters fall upon the stretched calfskin while a lassie blows the cornet and a regenerated brother beats the drum.

Not long ago there was a little friendly joke going the rounds alike of Broadway and the Bowery. "What will the Salvation Army do when the saloons quit July 1?"

The Salvation Army answered yesterday. It said the tambourine method of collecting funds had been abandoned definitely and forever. And hereafter, according to an announcement issued on authority of Commander Evangeline Booth, the Army will gather its funds for relief and other work in one big financial drive a year. This year's drive, for $10,000,000, will be made in May.

More Rapid Method Needed

This revolutionary change—the abandonment of a practice so closely associated with the Salvation Army during its thirty-five years of existence in this country—was the result of a recent conference here of ranking officers of the organization. Of course it has nothing to do with the supposition that one of the prolific sources of small change were the patrons of those corner institutions which became dark at midnight June 30. The fact is the Salvation Army, fresh from the laurels it won with the doughnut loving American troops in France, finds its enlarged work cannot be done properly if a large part of its time is spent in gathering funds by the old and hallowed, but nevertheless inefficient method. On this point a statement sent out yesterday says:

"A new programme, which contemplates maintenance of contact, not only with returned soldiers and sailors, but with their relatives and friends, has been adopted; and because soliciting alms by means of the tambourine will henceforth be an unwarranted waste of time, and imposition on the public, which now recognizes and indorses its work, the Salvation Army has abandoned its old-time method.

"The Salvation Army has decided upon an individual drive, with $10,000,000 as the target, the same to take place in May. When the drive is ended the tambourine and free will boxes will disappear."
